FRIDAY 29 NOVEMBER: NEWS, NOTICES AND FORTHCOMING EVENTS

Dear Parents and Guardians

I must admit to feeling a bit possessive about Truro School as the process of finding my successor unfolded. I was however able to spend time with all of the shortlisted candidates and their partners and share with them as much as I could about our school and community. Andy Johnson, his wife Pamela and I had such an engaging discussion about Truro School and I couldn't be more pleased that he was the unanimous choice amongst governors, staff and pupils. I feel sure that I am handing the reins to an excellent man who will bring huge experience, creativity and energy to our community. When I move to Kingswood School next September I will still be involved with the Methodist Independent Schools Trust and can look forward to the termly meetings of MIST Heads where Andy and I can swap notes!

Meanwhile, we are preparing for Truro School's 140th birthday party in January. This has been much the topic during my weekly breakfasts with my head girl and head boy team. One area of focus will be to gather 140 stories, past and present of Truro School in the community. Please do feed in your ideas as we build up our montage.

I continue to be amazed by the generosity of our former pupils who have been stepping up left, right and centre to support our efforts. Whether it be attending business lunches, helping with the forthcoming careers fair, giving time behind the scenes in the drama department, or contributing generously to our bursary appeal to support our public benefit commitments, it is super to see just how much their school days meant to them.

As the first Sunday of Advent approaches, I challenged our 1st and 2nd Years in chapel assembly this week. That whether they were of Christian faith, another faith or no faith, they would do well to reflect on the thought provoking words in the first chapter of John's gospel for some insight into why we celebrate Christmas in the first place.

Mr Gordon-Brown, Headmaster

John Wesley (1703-91)
FOUNDER OF METHODISM

Celebrating 140 Years

In January we are celebrating our 140th anniversary and we are looking to celebrate in a number of ways, one of which is a challenge for all our pupils and students to carry out John Wesley's message and 'do all the good'.

'Doing good' is a wide umbrella so hopefully there will be lots of students participating in a wide range of activities, such as volunteering, beach cleaning, visiting an elderly neighbour, being environmentally friendly, encouraging wildlife habitats or donating to local food or gift banks to name just a few ideas. Some pupils may have been involved in something similar this term already which may also be included.

We are hoping to document their achievements with individual photos displayed in a large banner montage which will be revealed at our 140th birthday party (more details to follow soon).

Teachers and form tutors will help pupils to start thinking about ideas, any encouragement from parents is greatly appreciated too.

Photos, along with a short description can be sent to 140@truroschool.com before 8 January 2020. Thank you for your co-operation and we look forward to receiving photos!

Step 1: Do good Step 2: Take a photo Step 3: Email the photo, your name and a short description of the activity to 140@truroschool.com

Truro School Governors announce new Head

The Governors of Truro School are delighted to announce the appointment of Andrew Johnson as Head of Truro School from September 2020.

Andrew, known as Andy, joins Truro School from St Dunstan's College, an inclusive and forward-thinking co-educational 3-18 school in south east London. He has been Deputy Head (Academic) there since 2015.

Prior to that he was the founding Deputy Head of the London Academy of Excellence, an ambitious and successful Sixth Form Free School in Newham, east London, Westminster School, where he had worked for eleven years, including as a Housemaster. His teaching career began in Hertfordshire, in Berkhamsted. His knowledge and experience of co-educational through schooling, sixth form excellence in independent and state sectors, and pastoral and academic leadership in boarding and day school contexts, will be of value and benefit to the children, staff, families and friends of Truro School. He is committed to Truro's inclusive Christian ethos, and to building on its great strengths and heritage over the next phase of its exciting, happy, and successful history.

Andy and his family have strong links to Cornwall and relish the opportunity to move here to live, work, and contribute. Childhood holidays here were routine and since being married, Andy, Pamela, and their two young children, Audrey and Alec, have been annual visitors to Cornwall, and usually St Mawes. They are thrilled to be starting a new chapter in their lives in Truro, with access to all the beauty and culture of the city and the county that surrounds it.

Andy says: "It is a delight and a privilege to have the opportunity to join and lead this successful and happy community and to build on Andrew's fantastic legacy. The warmth already shown to me and my family has been inspiring, and the potential of our School and the individuals within it is tremendously exciting. The more I learn about the children, staff and wider community, the more I look forward to serving them as Head."

Kim Conchie, Truro School's Chair of Governors commented: "On behalf of the governing body I am really pleased that Andy has agreed to join the school as the new Head. The school has consistently had strong, focussed leaders and Andy will certainly fit those criteria.

Throughout the interview process Andy has come across as one ready to take on the mantle of Truro School Head, and his experience through Westminster School, the establishment of the London Academy of Excellence for sixth formers and currently at St Dunstan's School gives him the ideal platform to lead Truro School.

"I welcome Andy and his family to Cornwall for the new school year in September 2020."

Healthcare at Treliske Hospital

On Monday a group of 4th Years-Lower Sixth students went to the Knowledge Spa at Treliske Hospital.

The hopeful medical students had a unique chance to meet the health professionals and hear up to date advice about career opportunities in health and care through interactive workshops and exhibits.

Students talked to the wide range of healthcare professionals represented at the event who gave them a great insight into the roles played within these large teams.

Miss Finnegan said: 'For some, it confirmed the role that they envisaged going into; and for others it introduced them to other avenues to consider.

'The hands on workshops went down particularly well, with students getting VR experiences as well as practice with intubation on dummies'.

Please see page 7 for upcoming Medical, Dentists and Vets events.

Triple county success for netballers

Our under 14, 13 and 12 netball squads and coaches are celebrating a triple success this week after triumphs in three county tournaments.

In the county championships, the under 14 squad claimed the county title after winning a superb final against Truro High School 10-7. The team will now represent Cornwall at the regional tournament in January, well done girls!

Another well-deserved congratulations goes to the under 12 and under 13 netball squads who both qualified for the Cornwall Schools Winter Games finals. In an impressive day on the courts, the under 12s won the qualifying while the under 13s were runners up. Wishing you all the best of luck in the finals.

Being victorious is something that our coaches Miss Tressider and Mrs Robins know all about, having both been crowned county champions themselves during their own Truro School years!

Pupils step back in time

As part of their Wednesday Afternoon Activity, a small group of pupils have been going on trips around the local area to learn about 'History Around Us'. The pupils also visited Jo who is Truro School's very own archivist, and showed the pupils just a snapshot of the 140 years worth of history that the school has. The pupils were fascinated and tested Jo on her in-depth knowledge.

A CHRISTMAS CORNISH CAROL (with apologies to Mr Charles Dickens)

The festive performance of 'A CHRISTMAS CORNISH CAROL' (with apologies to Mr Charles Dickens) is almost sold out. But tickets are still available for the matinee on Friday 20th Dec.

Christmas is upon us and business is booming in Ebenezer Scrooge's Pre-Packaged "Proper" Pasty Production Company. Costs are low, profit is high and the money is pouring in.

What's that? The staff are exhausted? They want a day off? They can barely afford to eat?

'Bah, humbug! You don't get nothing for free in this life.'

Over the course of one miserable, mizzly, Cornish night, join miserly Scrooge and a gaggle of ghostly ghouls who force him to revisit his PAST(y), explore his (Ker)NOW and decide if his FUTURE will Come-to-Good.

From the team that brought you Trevithick, The Cornish Caretakers and HIRETH, comes this irreverent, new adaptation of the Charles Dickens classic.

Weaving physical comedy, music and gags a-plenty, A CHRISTMAS CORNISH CAROL is a festive treat for the whole family.

TRURO SCHOOL ASSOCIATION OPPORTUNITY

The Truro School Association (TSA) are currently looking to recruit new, enthusiastic members to this long-standing Committee.

Headmaster, Andrew Gordon-Brown, current TSA President and Rachel Vaughan CO98, current Chair of the TSA and Teacher at Truro School, are eager to hear from anyone within our alumni community who might be interested in joining the TSA Committee and especially those who are alumni but also now parents of Truro School children.

To be eligible you must be a former pupil of Truro School. The TSA 'Mission Statement' is available on request, but the primary purpose of this Committee is to encourage and promote engagement from our alumni community.

This is by no means an onerous role – it entails:

- 3 x TSA Committee meetings per year (1 per term) – offering ideas to help, encourage and support our alumni community including new event suggestions.
- 1 AGM per year.
- Assisting (minimal) with the Annual Reunion sporting events and attending the Annual Reunion Dinner (always 1st Saturday of the School autumn term).
- Term of office – 3 years (with option to continue).

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE AN OPPORTUNITY FOR YOU?

To apply or if you wish to discuss the role further, please email tsa@truroschoo.com

Professor Laurence Hurst, President of the Genetics Society and former pupil of Truro School, is visiting to speak to Sixth Form Biology students, alumni, parents and A-level teachers from across the County. Professor Laurence Hurst, President of the Genetics Society and former pupil of Truro School, is visiting to speak to Sixth Form Biology students, alumni, parents and A-level teachers from across the County. He will be delivering his talk about the why of Biology, exploring issues such as varied testicular size in mammals, the strangeness of drinking milk and language evolution. Teachers are welcome to stay on after the talk for a brief presentation on the importance of teaching genetics before evolution.

Laurence Daniel Hurst (born 1965) FMedSci FRS is a Professor of Evolutionary Genetics in the Department of Biology and Biochemistry at the University of Bath and the Director of the Milner Centre for Evolution and the President of the Genetics Society, one of the world's oldest such societies, celebrating its centenary in 2019. He is a leading authority on the evolution of genetic systems.

Hosted by:
Sarah Finnegan, Head of Biology, P.S.H.E.E. and Coordinator of the Medical Pathways Programme

"We are eagerly anticipating Professor Hurst coming to talk to the sixth form students in the spring term on 'Nothing in biology makes sense.' He will discuss many fascinating areas including colour blindness, testicular size in primates, language evolution and the strangeness of drinking milk. However, the overriding aim of his presentation will be on giving students an insight into identifying their passion and determining their next steps. We are so very grateful for his support."
