30 APRIL 2021: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

Dear parents, carers, and guardians

We have had another really good week at School and I hope you have too at home. Whilst our grounds staff and all the gardeners amongst us will welcome the rain that may come this weekend, the sun has thankfully shone on the School so far this term.

Outdoor activities are in full swing and today we have run our first off site educational visit of term, a Lower Sixth Geography field trip, to test run our Covid-safe procedures in this context. As I wrote at the start of term, we were keen to review how we operate after the first two weeks of term and this was the right next step to take. On a similar note, we are looking at measured releases in parts of our sporting and wider co-curricular programme over the weeks ahead, and more information will follow. We have written out today regarding some controlled mixed sporting bubbles in selected year groups, for outdoor sports running as after school clubs, as the first step in this controlled opening up process.

As well as our co-curriculum, it has been great to see focus this week on academic ambition and also the importance of pupil wellbeing. I am grateful to Dr Pope especially for his careful steering of our examination community through the assessment process this summer. Parents and pupils of the 5th Year and Upper Sixth who were able to join our online presentation event on Tuesday evening will have seen the product of that diligence.

Yesterday evening, I was privileged to be part of our annual ACHE dinner. This event marks the completion of a sixteen-week course that trains volunteers from our Lower Sixth as peer counsellors and promoters of mental health and wellbeing at School. Hosted in a Covid safe environment, it was heart-warming to see 40 pupils from the Lower Sixth graduate from this training programme, ready to have the positive impact we know they can on the wellbeing of our School community.

We are a busy school maintaining our commitment to a holistic education – academic, co-curricular, and pastoral. It is no surprise, therefore, that many pupils and staff alike are looking forward to the long Bank Holiday weekend. We will continue to update parents and pupils as the planning for the term ahead evolves. In the meantime, I wish you all the very best for the long weekend.

Expert IT student on his ambitions

5th Year IT wizz Amari spent last summer at the Summer STEM Institute (SSI) and has recently given an interview about his love of all things computer science, programming and cybersecurity.

How did you first become interested in programming and computer science?

When I was in Year 9, I worked on a programming project where I made this interactive story using code. It was kind of like a choose-your-own-adventure story. My game was called "FBI Open Up," and players would enter FBI headquarters which were filled with bad guys. You were supposed to protect the hostages while taking down the enemies. There were basically a bunch of if-statements, and you would press one, two, or three depending on where you want to go in the game. Even though it was pretty simple, the project got me really interested in programming.

What areas within computer science are you most interested in?

After working on FBI Open Up, I became really interested in cybersecurity. I started participating in these challenges by the University of Southampton called the National Cipher Challenge. Basically, in the challenge, you are like a spy or agent, and you are given these encrypted paragraphs to decrypt. More recently, I've also been really excited about quantum computers. Even though they are mostly used in academia, I believe they will become quite big commercially in the future. Also, in the future, I hope to explore astronomy and apply machine learning to the field. I see astronomy research as the next step to exploring the universe.

What was your favourite part about SSI?

Over the summer, we had an ethics debate where we discussed the ethics behind machine learning. I really enjoyed the debate. People talked about racial biases in machine learning models, which I found especially interesting.

Overall, I loved learning about machine learning and enjoyed the programming lectures. Even though I had programming experience before SSI, I never did any machine learning before, so it was really valuable to learn about machine learning and improve my programming skills. I learned about resources I can use when I learn new things, like how to read documentation and utilize Stack Overflow.

Also, I really appreciated how organized SSI was. Whenever you thought of a question you had a resource you needed, it probably already existed.

Students achieve first-choice offers from overseas universities

Truro School's most successful application on record sees all students achieving one of their first-choice colleges in the most competitive application cycle on record.

Cameron G is holding offers at Tennessee Tech and California State Chico but being a talented golfer he was keen to go down the student-athlete route hoping his golfing potential could open financial aid doors for him.

Cam says, "I wanted to go to university in the USA to be able to gain an Economics degree and play golf for a college, challenging myself on a regular basis within the NCAA divisions. However, Mrs Jupp is very supportive and will make time to ensure that you are helped and supported every step of the way. My advice to anyone who is thinking about going to the USA, is to do lots of research, find out exactly what you want from a university, then you will be able to start the process early and gain lots of great offers."

California resident Jessica F has been with us for her Sixth Form. She was keen to apply to California University and NYU.

Jess said, "Having gone to school in both the US and UK, I wasn't sure where I wanted to go to University. The American college experience is very different to that of UK universities, from the application process to choosing majors/minors. Mrs. Jupp was amazing at guiding me through each step and ensuring my application was the best it could be. I'm so excited to hold an offer from UC

San Diego along with UK offers, keeping my options open for the next 4 years."

Roman N received his insurance offer at Concordia with a BA major in political science in record breaking time. He was accepted into his first choice in Canada, the University of Toronto, ranked 25th in the world according to the Times Higher Education. He is also holding an offer at McGill University, ranked number 42nd in the world and number 1 in Canada for among medical-doctoral universities for the last 15 years.

Roman says, "I wanted to apply to North American universities partly because of the sports college culture. In the UK, for my sport, fencing, there aren't really any serious clubs or training when you get to university level – but in the US, you have yearly tournaments competing against other universities in team and individual events, and these can often gather a lot of spectators. I wanted to be part of a university team that is as passionate and motivated about competing as I am. Truro School and Mrs Jupp made the whole process so much easier. On your own, applying to the US or internationally can seem overwhelming – but Mrs Jupp helped me with everything from narrowing down my universities list, SAT preparation, helping me edit my essays for my application to helping me prepare my student athlete application packages."

Lower Sixth complete ACHE training

Lower Sixth students held a banquet last night to celebrate completing 16 weeks of ACHE training (Advice, Care, Help and Empathy). This year 40 students finished the training to become peer mentors.

The programme sees Sixth Form students develop the skills and experience needed to listen to others and to offer compassion in times of need. When this year's cohort move into the Upper Sixth, they will be running the drop-in sessions, working with the younger members of our school community.

Four girls, Grace, Lara, Amba, and Scarlett took it upon themselves to organise the entire dinner for their peers.

Mr Sanderson was invited by the Rev to give an after-dinner speech, leaving the students to reflect on the importance of ACHE and how it can shape them as they move through life.

"Through your ACHE course, you have learnt how to give advice care, help and empathise. These are fantastic qualities. I know that if you carry these qualities with you throughout your life, you will be successful. It may not be in terms of riches or fame but it will be as a friend, colleague, partner and a person. You will naturally be seen as a leader. As someone to unite and bring others together, in a positive environment. You will be trusted and allow others to feel secure, supported and valued. If you continue with your ACHE learning and always strive to be 'Esse Quam Videri', I promise you this; you will be a happy, respected and important member of any team, whether you are leading it or contributing to it."

Closing the evening, the students came to the front to collect their certificates and badges. There was no handshaking this year due to Covid restrictions.

'Gone fishing'

Continuing on the fish theme, this Wednesday pupils headed off to Pendennis Point to see what they could catch. The spot is a great place for beginners as the conditions aren't challenging, and there are plenty of species to find there.

In total, 11 were caught by the group, (and swiftly returned to the sea) with species including, Conger eel, Corkwing Wrasse, Ballan Wrasse, Goldsinny Wrasse.

On only their second trip out of the term, the pupils are already getting to grips with how to use rods, thread the line and safely remove the fish from the hook to release them.

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A NEW CHALLENGE?

Truro School is seeking to recruit two new Governors interested in applying their skills and experience to a rewarding voluntary role helping to shape our young people's future.

Truro School is situated over two campuses, the Senior School set within 40 acres of sports fields and open spaces overlooking Truro and its iconic Cathedral, and a vibrant Prep School located across the city.

Truro School was founded with an ethos of compassionate ambition. Truro School's motto "Esse Quam Videri" (to be rather than seem to be) captures the essence of our identity. Underpinned by strong Christian principles, we are a caring and inclusive community which values, nurtures and develops each individual.

Our mission is to be the independent school of choice in the South West and our Governors are a key part of providing the strategic and effective leadership needed to achieve this.

The Board works closely with the Head and Senior Leadership Team acting as a "critical friend", providing challenge and support in equal measure. All our Governors have integrity, strong personal and professional values and a willingness to challenge and ask questions along with an understanding of the needs of the School and an appreciation of our values.

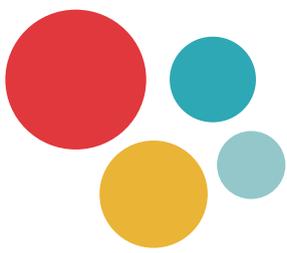

We welcome interest from anyone who feels they have the right skills or experience to contribute to the work of the Board. At this time, we are especially keen to hear from those with a background in either buildings & estates, sustainability, wellbeing, human resources or education.

We actively encourage applications from all members of society, regardless of background, culture, gender, ethnicity, disability, or age. Importance is placed on the "mind-set, skill-set and tool-set" that individuals can offer. Full training and support will be provided. Cornish residency is not essential.

schoolwear specialists

Dear Parent,

Although we're starting to see signs of normality, the impact of COVID-19 is still prevalent within the schoolwear industry. The following is an important message regarding global supply chain challenges that are impacting the supply of school uniform across the UK.

This is not just impacting Monkhouse, this is impacting all schoolwear suppliers across the UK.

Global Supply Chain Challenges

The availability of school uniforms across the UK is being seriously challenged by the impact of COVID-19 on global supply chains and the major disruption to worldwide shipping. This was impacted further by the recent closure of the Suez Canal.

What does this mean for you?

This is leading to out of stocks and delays on some orders, this is likely to continue throughout summer and into Back to School.

Not only are we experiencing delays in orders, our supply chain is unable to provide accurate delivery dates into our stores and distribution centres. Subsequently, we are then unable to provide you with delivery dates.

For those parents who are affected, we apologise for any inconvenience and we're working to gain more accurate information from suppliers.

Rest assured, our teams are working tirelessly to ensure supplies are received and distributed as quickly as possible.

What do you need to do?

If you have an outstanding order and require an update, please contact our customer service team who will do their best to answer your queries:
