

11 JUNE 2021: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

Dear Parents, Carers and Guardians,

I do hope you were able to enjoy half term. My thanks for supporting such a strong return this week for your children. We are a school that winds up towards the end of the year, rather than down, and much is happening or being planned. This is to ensure that pupils of all ages who have either finished public exam assessments, or internal end of year assessments, can be assured of an exciting and engaging end of the year.

This morning we launched our competition house week. Pupils attended house assemblies and details have been shared about challenges, and how to be involved with Sports Day on 24 June - whether they are in school or remote. The word of the week from the PE department is 'Teamwork'. Please do encourage your children's involvement in both the competition house week challenges and sports day. The music and drama teams are also busy rehearsing for end of year concerts and plays. More details will follow next week. Details have been sent to you regarding Speech Day on 6 July, and staff are carefully planning the 5th Year Thanksgiving Service, BBQ, and Prom, and the Upper Sixth Leavers Service and Ball.

We will also be writing to parents and pupils of the 5th Year and Upper Sixth next week with an update on the summer grading process. You have already been sent our school policy, and national guidance was published this week over the summer appeals processes, should that be of relevance. As ever, we remain committed to sharing with families all we can about the process so that you are fully informed. My thanks go to all the pupils and staff for whom this phase of time has been so intense.

We eagerly await the next Government update over Covid regulations and will ensure the events we are planning remain within guidelines, which is why full details have not been provided as yet. They will come as soon as we can firm them up. Communication has been key for all of us this year, and once again we find ourselves in a situation where the enemy of forward planning is the reality of an evolving pandemic. My thanks once again for your understanding and patience in this regard.

On the topic of Covid, may I remind your children through you of the ongoing need for vigilance. Our school-based mitigations remain as set out before half term. I ask that your children maintain or return to robust routines of lateral flow testing at home, and that any pupil who shows symptoms, whether or not their test is positive, should stay at home. Covid is showing the beginnings of an unwelcome rise again in our County and we would like to maximise the chances of that not disrupting our end of year planning. The last tests from the packs issued to pupils on 24 May would be scheduled to be used on 20 June. Follow up packs will be issued via tutors in due course to all pupils routinely on site. For the 5th Year and Upper Sixth, who are not routinely on site any more, we ask that they collect their next pack from reception when they are next on site for any bridging or other events.

Also of high profile in Cornwall this weekend is the G7. For those who have not yet seen and heard it, please do enjoy the superb work of our Choristers at the heart of the Sing2G7 project (www.Sing2G7.org). The school is proud to be a promoter of youth voice and leadership, and profound musical talent. We are also pleased to be able to support the wider G7 by offering some accommodation to a small number of police officers working for the summit this weekend.

Sustainability is a theme that will play a part in the school's next Strategic Plan. On Monday, we will send all parents a survey seeking your input as part of that planning. The survey is vital as a means to give parents voice, including those of you who perhaps are not regular communicators of your views at other times, and I politely urge you all to respond to the survey when sent. The window for completing it will be just one week so that outcomes can be collated before the end of this term and in time to help with summer planning.

Finally, but importantly, you may have seen the recent news that Ofsted have published their report into sexual violence and harassment in schools nationally. Although we were not visited as part of that investigation, we, like so many other schools, have been deeply shocked by the testimonies of abuse and harassment that have been raised by young people across the UK over recent months. Our statement about this on 19 March, as soon as the scale of this national issue became clear, remains one we all stand by.

The safety and wellbeing of your children is our priority, alongside the supportive engagement with any former pupils who may come forward with concerns or information. Prior to the national news stories, we were already reviewing and evolving our approaches to Relationships and Sex Education. Since it has been a national issue we have stepped up our engagement with the wider professional and research community, and, vitally, with pupils, to discuss and to listen to their perspectives on sexual consent, relationships, respect and diversity. We continue to review and develop our programmes in these areas.

We have actively assured pupils that any concerns or incidents brought to us will be treated with the upmost empathy and seriousness, and that individuals will be supported.

Healthy cultures are nurtured with commitment and over time. Our dialogue and engagement with pupils is open and reassuring in that the overwhelming feedback is that they feel safe at our school, but we are by no means complacent. We recognise the important role all schools, including ours, must play in addressing issues and cultures that are not simply school-based, with courage, compassion, and commitment over time.

I do hope the news next week supports your and our planning.

There is a strong desire to ensure a positive, inspiring, and enjoyable end of term, and I look forward to sharing it with you.

Mr A Johnson
Head

PE's Word of the Week: Teamwork

Every week, the PE department has a 'word of the week' which represents the department's eight values. PE teachers and coaches will be looking to see who can demonstrate actions that encompass the word during lessons, as well as those who are aiming to develop their understanding of what the word means.

Teamwork:

"The strength of the team is each individual member. The strength of each member is the team."

Acts that show teamwork can include:

- Communicating effectively and calmly with teammates and peers.
- Ensuring all members of the group know their role.
- Listening and respecting the views of others.
- Supporting and lifting others up.
- Allowing others, the opportunity to celebrate their successes.

Pupils and/or groups chosen for best showing teamwork are:

1st Years:

- 1M for the great work in swimming this week: relays, keepy uppys and great support to the classmates for the whole lesson.
- 1st Year groups in Games showed great teamwork skills this week, cheering and helping students from opposing teams as well as communicating effectively during house competitions.

1st Year pupil raises nearly £2000 for charity

1st Year James, who in May embarked on a month- long fundraising challenge completing 90km of cycling, 90km of running, and 30km of running, has raised a staggering £1850 for Tommy's. His original goal was £1000.

A big thank you to everyone who has supported James in this huge achievement.

International partnership helps Truro School boarders

Kellett School, The British International School in Hong Kong, recently opened its doors to two stranded Truro School boarding students who were unable to return to the UK.

Jack Wong and Stephanie Choi are A-Level Chemistry students who arrived home to Hong Kong for their Christmas holidays in December 2020, but were unable to fly back to the UK in January 2021 to resume their schooling due to Covid-19. Remote learning on Teams allowed Jack and Steph to experience every theory lesson to the same standard as their peers, but needed to complete experiments as part of their final assessments.

With no return to the UK in sight, Head of Chemistry at Truro School, Dr Anna Brogden, reached out to Kellett School Principal & CEO Mark Steed, having previously worked with Mark when he was Principal of Berkhamsted School, to help her students complete their studies.

Dr Brogden said: "I knew he was someone who could be absolutely relied upon to support and champion the education of all students, facing any challenges head on.

I was delighted when he agreed to help."

Kellett Senior School Chemistry teacher Mr Ed Wawn was happy to help, and accommodated Jack and Stephanie through three core practical sessions. "The students really enjoyed being back in a science lab and actually being able to discuss chemistry face-to-face, something that they had not experienced since before Christmas."

Dr Brogden added: "I am incredibly grateful to Kellett School, to Mark and to Ed, for providing an invaluable and unique solution to the educational problems we faced when our international boarders were unable to return to the UK to complete their A-level studies. I am really proud of what we have achieved working together to enable the best educational outcomes for two students, who otherwise would have been unfairly disadvantaged by the global pandemic through no fault of their own."

After spending a few afternoons in Kellett's science labs, Jack and Stephanie were able to complete their practical work and are well on their way to fulfilling all of their Chemistry A-level requirements.

Sixth Form students invite you to their production of 'Things I Know to be True'

Four of our Lower Sixth drama students, Ellie, Poppy, Cam and Ruben, have got together and decided to put on a production of 'Things I Know to be True' by Andrew Bovell, a modern drama that follows the trials and tribulations of the Price family.

Four adult children, each facing a trauma in their lives, turn to their parents for support. In each instance, relationships are tested to the limit and the love of the family has to weather a few storms.

Drama teachers Ben Oldfield and Johanna Egar were delighted to be invited to be in the cast, playing the parents. This is a student-led production, not part of the A-Level or co-curricular courses.

"We fell in love with the play when we studied it for GCSE and now we're in Sixth Form we jumped at the chance to put it on, with help from Mr Oldfield and Miss Egar."

Ben Oldfield said, "This is a perfect example of how students in the drama department step up and deliver. Not to be put off by Lockdown, they have regrouped and are determined to put on a piece of theatre to entertain and welcome audiences back into our theatre."

'Things I Know to be True' will be the first live performance of a play in the Burrell with an open audience for over 18 months and we are delighted to be opening our doors again.

Admission is free. Tickets are available by emailing tjb@truroschoo.com

Clare Owen Author Visit

Wednesday 16 June 2021

The English Department and Truro School Library are excited to announce that local author and Truro School parent, Clare Owen will be visiting Truro School for the morning of Wednesday 16th June. Clare will be talking to the 3rd Years about her recently published first YA novel, Zed and the Cormorants which is set in Cornwall. She will also be running a workshop with the 5th form and 6 Upper.

Copies of the book will be for sale in the Truro School Library at break and lunchtime. Clare will be available to sign copies of the book. The books will cost £9.99 and must be paid for in cash.

Alternatively, copies of the book are available in advance directly from the publisher or from any UK bookshop including The Falmouth Bookseller who are happy to deliver to the school. Books must be ordered before close of business on Saturday 12th June.

11 JUNE 2021: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

The Truro School boarders will be taking part in this year's Rainbow Run – your way next weekend and would like to invite you to join them to raise money for Children's Hospice South West.

As a boarding community they have taken part in the CHSW Rainbow Run at St Mawgan for the last eight or so years. Whilst it is not taking place as a mass event again this year the boarders are ready and raring to go. They plan to spend next Friday evening tie-dying t-shirts in an array of rainbow colours and designs, before taking to the school fields on Saturday evening. The boarders, boarding staff and families have pledged to walk, jog, run, hop, skip or cartwheel the 5km and we would be thrilled if you could do the same at some point, somewhere over the weekend.

They have set up a Just Giving fundraising page and they would of course be grateful for any support that you can offer.

The link to the page is:

<https://www.justgiving.com/fundraising/truroschoolorboardersrainbowrun2021>

As ever, if you do manage to join them, please send in any pictures that you take. It would be great to see photos from across the county, country and world - we had boarding families in Hong Kong taking part last year.

Many thanks in anticipation of your support!

Over 1,000 children across the world joined the choristers for a global mega zoom to sing to G7

As G7 leaders converged on Cornwall, well over 1,000 children across 14 timezones met to sing on a Sing2G7 Mega Zoom led by our choristers, singing together Gee Seven, the song written specially for the project by Sir Tim Rice.

The Choristers who have inspired 25,000 children to sing to G7 on world issues close to their hearts then passed the leadership baton from country to country, with choirs and soloists across the globe leading the whole chorus at different moments. One of the most moving moments came when ten-year-old Japanese girl Rosa who has been in strictest lockdown since the project launched at the end of April, led the world, singing the final chorus with its poignant challenge to world leaders to take their responsibility to the rest of the world seriously.

Sam, a young chorister from Toronto Children's Chorus who led the global chorus at one point in the Zoom said, 'It's been really inspiring that we've been able to do this, just to have everyone from fourteen time zones come on Zoom and sing one song that was written for us. So I think that's really cool.'

Banele who helps lead Khayelitsha Children's Choir, in Khayelitsha Township, Cape Town, South Africa said, 'It's so rare to be communicating with people from around the world. It doesn't happen every day. The children were thrilled to be part of the Zoom.'

Christopher Gray, Director of Music at Truro Cathedral said, 'It's always special when we bring people together in song, but it was particularly emotional to see technology allowing people from all over the world to unite on this scale. The song by Tim Rice and Peter Hobbs and the message of Sing2G7 have clearly chimed with children from many cultures who are facing quite different Covid challenges. It made me think of John Dryden's words from the seventeenth century which are no less true today: "Music for a while shall all your cares beguile."

Sir Tim Rice was present throughout the Zoom, and took a Q&A session at the end, fielding questions from youngsters around the world. Besides this the children watched personal messages of encouragement from Gordon Brown, UN Envoy for Education and former UK Prime Minister, The Bishop of Europe and Sophie Daud, CEO Y7/Future Leaders Network.

The public can join the Sing2G7 excitement by attending the G7 concert on June 12th 7.30pm by Truro Cathedral Choir either in person or streamed online. Tickets are available via the Truro Cathedral website. The concert will be live-streamed on Truro Cathedral's Youtube account.

TRURO SCHOOL CAFÉ OPEN

Truro School Cafe is back open for all your coffee and croissant, latte and lunch or tea and cake needs! We are now open to parents and visitors all day, from 0845 until 1530. Our other news is that we now have a new range of lovely gifts and cards including St Eval candles, Sophie Allport notebooks and ceramics, Origin Coffee and Cornish Tea available to buy from the cookery school café - perfect for those last minute forgotten birthdays and wedding anniversaries! We are also delighted to have teamed up with 'The Flower Hut' from Stithians and have bunches of fresh locally grown Cornish flowers and plants available from Wednesday to Friday, or to pre-order for collection on any day. Aly, Muffy, Maria and Aj can't wait to see you all again - there is SO much to catch up on!

Truro School Cafe Open term time - Monday - Friday 0845 - 1530
