Outstanding GCSE and A-Level Results at Truro School

This summer, Truro School has much to celebrate, with students achieving remarkable success at both A-Level and GCSE, further solidifying Truro School's position as the No.1 School in Cornwall*.

In A-Levels, our Sixth Form have been celebrating an exceptional set of results with over 73% of all grades A*-B, over 45% were A*/A, and over 20% were at A*.

In six subjects, spread across Further Maths, the Sciences, Humanities and the Creative Arts, all students achieved grades A*-B. Over 92% of EPQ outcomes were A*-A, 88% of our Leith's cookery qualifications were Distinction or Merit, and two double Distinctions were achieved in Ctec PE. This range of excellence reflects Truro School's ongoing championing of diverse A-Level and Sixth Form pathways that is at the heart of our Sixth Form Diploma program, now in its third successful year.

For GCSE results, Truro School is pleased to announce that they achieved far above the national averages. Over one-third of all grades were 9 or 8, and nineteen pupils achieved a full set of grades 9 or 8. Over 52% of all grades were 9-7, stronger than last year, as also were the outcomes for grades 9-6 and 9-5.

Among the school's many success stories are Diploma Scholars Sam, Jessica, Harry and Noah. Sam achieved eleven Grade 9s, the highest possible grade in every subject. Exceptionally also, Jessica, Harry and Noah achieved Grade 9s in at least eight subjects each. You can read more individual pupil stories for A-levels and GCSE here.

Proud as the School is of the overall outcomes, however, it is the individual journeys and destinations that matter most. Truro School are delighted that the hard work of its students has resulted in places being secured at Oxbridge and four at Medical Schools including International student Taerim, from South Korea. We also have students off to McGill University in Canada, for Engineering, Law, Architecture, and also for Music Conservatoires, Archaeology, Sports, Geology, Software Engineering, Illustration, and directly into varied industries, including training as a pilot or as business leaders through leading apprenticeship programs.

Macarena, one of our international boarders from Spain, said, "I've done better than expected with three As in Spanish, Business and Psychology and a B in English. Truro School has been so great. Any time I emailed teachers for extra support, it was given, whether that was past papers or additional assessments. I'm off to King's College London to study International Management but I will miss the people, the teachers and the place here."

"73% of all A-Level grades A-B"*

"I'll miss the people, my friends and the beautiful relationships I have with my teachers and the younger pupils. Truro School is a truly special place." Lexi

Boarding in Cornwall

Truro School is a warm, welcoming community characterised by constructive and trusting relationships, a place where talented and dedicated teachers educate pupils to be independent individuals. We believe that pupils' abilities are not fixed and that through their learning they can each grow and develop intellectually, discovering new interests and talents. We champion a broad and balanced education that includes creative, cultural, spiritual and sporting opportunities alongside genuine academic rigour. As pupils progress through the school, they will also develop social skills, confidence and leadership qualities.

A Close-Knit Boarding Community

Boarding adds a special dimension to a Truro School education and is a thoroughly modern solution to 21st century family life. What boarders love most is being with friends and living together on our extensive campus not 5 minutes walk from the centre of Truro but at the same time being able to attend an excellent academic establishment where they know that all of their educational needs will also be met.
